Health Club Experts announces new crowdfunding loans aimed at improving lending to small businesses

Pompano Beach, FL – Health Club Experts (HealthClubExperts.com) unveiled an equity crowdfunding loan that will revolutionize lending to small businesses, giving them access to capital to grow and expand.

Health Club Experts clients, predominately gyms and fitness businesses, will have the opportunity to apply for equity crowdfunding loans of up to $200,000. The loan terms include repayment within five years and a FICA score of 620 or higher. Health Club Experts also provides its clients access to capital loans and equipment leasing.

“Equity crowdfunding offers a different approach to lending and to crowd funding, opening the doors to loans that haven’t been available to small businesses since before the economic downturn a few years ago,” says Paul Bosley, founder and managing member of Health Club Experts, a Pompano Beach-based company that offers management support to fitness companies through the U.S.

Unlike traditional crowd-funding sites where companies pitch their products and services directly to online users, Health Club Experts crowdfunding partner serves as a lending hub where only accredited investors can invest. Small businesses will be encouraged to promote their loan and the investment opportunity via social media and to friends, families, clients and other business supporters.
